

POOLING BILL WILL PASS THE SENATE

NO MATERIAL CHANGE WILL BE MADE THEY SAY.

Such Are the Reports From Washington Today—Income Tax Appropriation Caused Much Discussion Yesterday but the Amount Was Allowed—Currency Committee in Session

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—It is claimed that the railroad pooling bill will pass the senate without material change. On motion of Mr. Breckinridge of Kentucky the house went into committee of the whole yesterday for the consideration of the urgency deficiency appropriation bill. The bill carried $2,004,295, but there were only two disputed items—the appropriation of $245,000 for the collection of the income tax and $250,000 for the expenses of special examiners of the pension office. An attempt to secure an agreement fixing the limit of general debate failed, owing to the objections of Mr. Bartlett of New York, who was at the head of the opposition to the income tax, and Mr. Henderson of Iowa who led the opposition to the appropriation for the special examiners of the pension office.

Mr. Henderson (Iowa) and Mr. Cockran (N. Y.) both hoped for the repeal of "this odious tax." After a short speech by Mr. Breckinridge, in which he defended the income tax, Mr. Bartlett moved to strike out the appropriation for the collection of income tax. Defeated, 54-121.

Mr. Sickels (dem., N. Y.) asserted the right of congress to arrest the execution of a law, claiming that such arrest did not mean the nullification of the law.

Mr. Henderson (rep., Iowa) moved to reduce the appropriation for pension examiners from $250,000 to $125,000, criticising severely the conduct of the pension office.

Mr. Sickels (dem., N. Y.) repudiated the charge of wholesale fraud made against pensioners and declared his unalterable opposition to the appropriations unless it could be authoritatively shown the pension examiners provided for by it were employed in aiding, instead of embarrassing, deserving claimants.

Without action on the amendment the committee rose.

Thursday, Dec. 20, was set aside for exercises in connection with the dedication of the statues of John Stark and Daniel Webster and the second Saturday in February for tributes to the memory of the late Representative Wright of Pennsylvania.

The house then, at 5:10 p. m., adjourned.

STATES HIS OBJECTIONS.

Lyman J. Gage Before the Banking and Currency Committee.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—A letter was read from Lyman J. Gage, the prominent banker and financier of Chicago, at the opening of the hearing of the house committee on banking and currency yesterday. Mr. Gage had been invited to appear before the committee, but as he was unable to come his views were briefly summarized by letter.

Referring to the recommendations of the President and secretary of the treasury, Mr. Gage says: "Agreeing with the criticisms made by the officers of the government as to the present weakness of our situation and the great desirability of separating the government from the direct responsibility of currency issues, I am persuaded that the country is not ready to accept their recommendations as to the methods proposed.

"In making any change the method should be so simple that all can comprehend it, and it should be seen that the incidental effects would not be in any direction disturbing to trade, commerce or industry. I believe the 'Baltimore plan' carries the true principles of a credit currency, but we can not reach it by any one step, and years may intervene before it can be realized. In the mean time the way for the government to step out of the currency business and place the burden of redemption on the banks is plain.

"Authorize the issue of $250,000,000 of 2½ per cent bonds payable at such time as congress may elect (twenty-five years desirable) to be offered to subscribers at par. Accept in payment United States legal tender notes or treasury notes, the same to be canceled.

"Amend the national bank act so that banks can obtain note issues to the face value of bonds deposited as security for circulation. Reduce the tax on circulating notes to one half of 1 per cent.

"This done, national bank notes would make good the vacuum caused by the retirement of government notes. In fact there would be some expansion under it, to be followed later by some contraction through forced redemption of bank issues if it be true, as some claim, that the volume of circulating media in the United States is larger than can be maintained and that the outflow of gold is nature's method of equalizing things. If this be so, if contraction through the exportation of gold or by a retirement of a portion of the paper money, be a logical sequence of our situation, then in that case the government being safe from demands, the banks with circulation outstanding would be obliged to bring their issues within narrower limits. But all this would work itself out and need not be dwell upon at length now. The problem is this: To take the government out of the note issuing business. First, without contracting the currency in the process. Second, without inviting expansion."

A letter was also read from Edward N. Gibbs, treasurer of the New York Life Insurance company, approving the national bank system with some modification.

George C. Butler of New Haven, Conn., presented a currency plan differing somewhat from the secretary's and the Baltimore plan. Its features included note issues up to 80 per cent of a bank's capital; removal of controller of currency to New York, where he is to have control of the specie reserve made up of 25 per cent of notes issued. Mr. Butler's plan also proposed a board of bank officers in New York presided over by the controller of the currency.

Mr. Butler said the requirement of Secretary Carlisle's that all national banks guarantee the notes of each bank would nullify the law. Banks would not accept such unknown responsibility. Horace White of New York was further questioned after the recess and the committee adjourned until to-day.

IN THE SENATE.

Supplementary Sugar Tariff Bill Thought to Be Disposed Of.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—On motion of Mr. Allen senate passed yesterday, with an amendment, the house bill amending section 3 of the act of March 2, 1889, withdrawing certain public lands from private entry.

Senator Gray moved to take up the sugar bill in the senate. The motion was lost by a vote of 23 to 27. This action is thought to dispose of the bill in the senate. Senator Vest then moved to take up his closure resolution. Motion lost.

The senate then resumed the consideration of the Nicaragua canal bill, and Mr. Morgan warmly advocated the government's completing the canal. He asked senators to inform themselves on the matter so that it could be brought to a vote at an early day.

Mr. Cullom gave notice that he would be ready Friday to make some remarks on the bill. He announced that he was for some measure that would result in the final completion of the canal.

Mr. Platt (rep., Conn.) then spoke on the bill to establish the territory of Indiana. He said he did not overstate the matter when he said that legislation was open and unblushingly bought in the Indian legislatures, nor did he overstate it when he said that the administration of justice was bought and sold for the benefit of the "white Indian."

Some minor measures were disposed of and Mr. Broderick of Kansas introduced a bill restoring the McKinley rate of $10 a head on cattle over 1 year of age entering the United States. Mr. Broderick says a syndicate has been formed to purchase 50,000 head of Mexican cattle and bring them across the border, and he wants to frustrate the scheme.

WINDSOR, Dec. 13.—The remains of Sir John Thompson were taken to London this afternoon for embalming.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 13.—The unwarranted imprisonment of Henry Argall, an American citizen, by the Guatemalan government is given in detail by advices brought by the steamship Colon, from Panama. Argall had the temerity to question the authorities of the jefe politico of Guatemala when the latter attempted to steal some land, and Argall was thrown into prison for his audacity. While in the penitentiary he demanded to see the commandant and was brutally beaten by the officer in charge of the prison. United States Minister Young heard of the outrage and demanded the release of his countryman. The president of the republic was appealed to, and he showed his contempt for Americans by postponing action and keeping Argall incarcerated for twelve days. At the end of that time the door of Argall's dungeon was thrown open and he and his companions were permitted to walk forth into the open air. A complaint was formulated and sent on to Washington. The result has been that the imprisonment of Argall has taken the shape of an international issue and Guatemala may yet be called upon to explain the indignity put on an American citizen.

The program was indorsed by the committee.

The Rev. Myron W. Reed of Denver addressed the convention on the subject of "Paupers and Millionaires." Referring to the general methods of dispensing charity, he said it was much of it conscience money from rich robbers to poor victims. President Gompers responded to Mr. Reed's remarks in a complimentary manner.

By unanimous consent a resolution presented by Vice-President McGuire was adopted reaffirming the former position of the federation that no action be taken regarding religious creed or any similar subject. It was decided to invite Gov. Waite to address the convention.

At the afternoon session the committee on credentials reported on the Painters and Decorators' union contest, recommending that both factions be seated and the vote be divided between them, and that the incoming executive council take the matter up and endeavor to effect a reconciliation. The report was adopted. Delegate Lloyd of the Central Trades council of Boston introduced a resolution in favor of free coinage. It was referred to the resolutions committee.

It is believed Gompers will be re-elected president, and little, if any, opposition, encountered. John Burns has accepted an invitation to address the Women's club Saturday afternoon on "Woman—Her Social and Municipal Duties."

Out between Lake Calhoun and Lake Harriet, quite a ways from the murder scene, however, he found a pair of trousers, two shirts, and some other articles which it is believed may be connected with the Geng murder. At the door of her house she was met by the two hired men, one of whom seized her by the throat and threatened to shoot her if she attempted to make an outcry. Meanwhile the other man searched the house, finding a gold watch and $65, which they took and hurried away from the neighborhood. HOSPITAL TO CLOSE BY JANUARY FIRST

OAK LAWN INSTITUTION IS SHORT OF FUNDS.

While Much Regret Was Shown In So Doing, the Matter of When It Would Suspend Was Left to the Directors at Last Night's Meeting—Many Favor City Support.

On or before January 1, 1895, Oak Lawn Hospital will probably be closed, it depending on the action of the directors. Such was the decision reached at the annual meeting of the association held last night and it came in the form of Captain Norcross' amendment to Mrs. J. L. Ford's motion that it be closed for an indefinite period. President Valentine called the meeting to order and Secretary F. S. Haselton submitted his report which read as follows:

Bills More Than Cash In Hand.

Secretary Haselton stated that the outstanding bills exceeded the cash on hand and that there were but two patients in the hospital. The prospect was that the association would be confronted by a shortage of $100 or more by January 1. After Mrs. John Winans, Mrs. M. P. Leavitt, S. B. Smith and C. B. Conrad had been re-elected directors, Mrs. J. L. Ford moved that the hospital "be closed January 1, 1895, for an indefinite period."

A discussion followed and the sentiment seemed to be largely in favor of the council's doing something to help the association out by amending the charter and appropriating funds.

Dr. J. B. Whiting deplored the necessity of closing the hospital, and said all the physicians in the city with the exception of two or three have always stood ready to lend a helping hand, and aid the management in their work. He spoke highly of the management and the work of the matron in bringing the hospital to its present high standard.

Dr. L. J. Barrows complimented the work done by the association and regretted to see the work stop now, just as it was reaching such a high standard of excellence.

Capt. Phil Norcross favored closing the hospital until some means could be devised to pay running expenses. In the past the funds have been contributed by comparatively a few people, while the city as a whole derives the benefit from the work, and he thought the public should support it.

George L. Carrington addressed the meeting, and stated that he feared the closing of the hospital would be permanent; that in his opinion the question of city support should be agitated and carried if possible. A city of this size needs an emergency hospital, and if this is closed it will cause much annoyance and a great deal of unnecessary suffering.

CRUSHED TO DEATH BY A WHEEL

Little Dixon Boy Dies from Injuries Sustained Tuesday Morning.

Little James Dixon died last night as the result of his boyish prank. When he tried to jump on behind Timothy McKugo's buggy Tuesday morning he threw his right leg over the corner of the box and his foot caught in the wheel. McKugo heard his screams and the cries of other children but thought it was all a piece of childish play. He didn't stop the buggy until he noticed that one of the rear wheels refused to turn but was dragging. He looked back and saw the little Dixon boy jammed between the wheel and the box and holding on desperately to keep from being dashed to death. Dr. Palmer found that a compound dislocation of the knee had been suffered, the tissues of the leg mangled and ground away, four teeth knocked out and internal injuries inflicted. All day long the boy grew weaker and at 10:30 in the evening death ensued. The boy was the son of Anthony Dixon, the horse trainer, living three miles south of town. Mr. Dixon's wife died hardly a year ago.

COL. MORLEY IS GIVEN AN OFFICE

The Babcock Man Gets the Job of Superintendent of Public Property.

Gov. Elect Upham has decided upon the appointment of Col. Morley of Babcock, as superintendent of public property. As to other appointments, no heretofore announced, no conclusions have been reached and none will be until after December 20.

Frank T. Tucker of Omro, has been selected for the position of chief clerk in the office of state superintendent of public instruction under the incoming administration. Miss Winona Merrick of Madison, will be the stenographer in the same office. Mr. Tucker was a candidate for the nomination for superintendent before the state convention. Official announcement of both these intended appointments was made yesterday.

DIVORCE GRANTED TO MRS. PARKER

Judge Bennett Has Testimony Showing That There Was Failure to Support

No contest was made by John F. Parker against the granting of a divorce to Mrs. Kittie Ford Parker in Judge Bennett's court late yesterday afternoon. The ground alleged was failure to support. Mrs. Parker was represented by Winans & Hyzer and besides securing an absolute divorce she was given the right to resume her maiden name.

His Window Full of Brilliance

There is envy in the eyes of window dressers as they pass C. D. Stevens' corner. They recognize that corner as affording the best opportunity for a tasteful display of any in town. A broad expanse of glass faces two much traveled streets and gives excellent opportunity for banking up holiday goods.

And the opportunity has been taken.

One of the big show windows has been made a symphony in green, the other a study in pink. Broad bands of color furnish the outline, while rising up from the lower border are tier upon tier of holiday conceits. In each window there is a profusion of all the leading makes of perfumes which have been so fully approved by Janesville people. Generous flasks of colognes and toilet waters, dressing cases, mirrors, celluloid novelties and other goods of corresponding nature make up most of the display which is set off by sprays of holly and made more effective by the skillful color arrangement. In the east window is the picture of nauturiums, painted by Mrs. S. S. Judd, and giving fresh proof of the artistic talent of that lady.

SHIFTED RINGS.

And Almost Broke a Pawnbroker's Heart.

Another clever trick that came near being successful was that of a man who went into a pawnbroker's with a magnificent ruby ring.

"How much do you want?" asked the pawnbroker.

"What will you give?" answered the customer.

After examining the ring the pawnbroker offered $300, which, considering the jewel was a gem, wasn't too much.

"No," answered the man, "I must have $400."

This the pawnbroker refused, and the man replaced the ring on his finger. Just as he reached the door he turned back, saying: "Oh, very well; I only really needed $300." He handed back the ring, and the pawnbroker counted out six crisp fifty-dollar bills. He was just over the point of handing them over when a clever assistant whispered: "Examine that ring."

The pawnbroker took the hint, and upon examination found the ring to be in every respect the same as the one previously inspected, except the ruby, which was mere glass. The setting and the diamonds were genuine.

During the moment, for it wasn't longer, that the man had turned he had substituted one ring for the other. The pawnbroker, not satisfied with having escaped a serious loss, had the man arrested. When searched he had three similar rings in his possession. The judge, however, had no sympathy with the prospector, and after stating that there was no evidence against the prisoner in such a case, discharged him.

Monday Morning 9 o'clock.

This is the time we will open our show. We will have a scene in our out window for a short time that will please anything ever shown in the city. The entertainment is free all open at 9 a. m. Monday morning. on hand. BROWN BROS. & LINCOLN.

EVANGELISTS DRAW GOODLY AUDIENCES

MANY HEARD THIS AFTER- NOON'S SERMON.

The Lesson Was Drawn From the Nobleman Seeking the Cure of His Son—Tonight Rev. Merrill Will Speak of "The Scarlet Thread"—Last Night's Services.

Rev. Merrill preached to a good audience this afternoon and drew a lesson from the story of the nobleman seeking the cure of his son. The subject tonight will be "The Scarlet Thread," and the Cheney quartette, will as usual, sing several selections.

Rev. Merrill took for his subject last night, "A Tremendously Personal Question," and that question was, "Am I a Sinner Needing a Savior?"

"The question is not, 'are there sinners in the world, in China, in Chicago, in Janesville in my own home even,' but 'am I personally a sinner.' We can get all sorts of answers from men, but we cannot trust men to answer it," he said. "We want God's answer, for He knows the facts. He loves us enough to tell us the truth, and He is the One who is to decide the whole matter. His answer is, 'all have sinned and come short of the glory of God.' Men don't like to acknowledge that they cannot save themselves, but God says that 'whoever shall keep the whole law and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all.' If a piece of canvas ten feet square with 14,400 square inches in it, must be perfectly white to be used for a certain purpose, it is as truly spoiled for that purpose if one inch is painted black as if the whole canvas is coated. A man suspended over a precipice by a chain of ten links, falls to his death just as surely if one link breaks as if the whole ten gave way."

One Sin Cuts Off the Soul.

"One sin cuts the soul off from God and makes self-salvation just as impossible as ten thousand sins," he continued. "Let an artist come in here to night who has the power to point out all the thoughts, actions and purposes of the heart, and make such a picture of your heart for the last ten years, and hang it up here where everybody can read it. Wouldn't you fly out of those doors? 'The heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked; who can know it?' Law is not given to save sinners; it condemns them; shuts them up in prison but never lets them out. If a convict ever gets out of states prison he either serves out his term, dies, or is pardoned out. The law never lets him out. If you are ever saved it is through Jesus Christ, who becomes your substitute just the moment you accept Him. Take a card write on one side the word 'condemned,' look at it till you get hold of the fact that you are condemned by your own sin, then turn the card over and write on the other side 'forgiven.' The moment you will turn your heart over to Jesus Christ and trust Him, that moment you are forgiven."

JUST WHO THE BABY IS.

Fedegree of the Infant Prince Born to the Duke and Duchess of York.

The infant prince who is the third in the line of succession to the throne of England has of course all the ancestry of his illustrious father, and is on his mother's side, through the duke of Teck, sprung from the reigning house of Wurtemberg and from the early kings of Prussia. Though not descended from the elder branch of Stuart, he is a distant cousin of the princess of Bavaria, who is now the head of that line, and he is distantly related to the czar of Russia. He inherits no title, her majesty having some years ago decreed that the style of royal highness should belong only to her own children and the children of her sons. No English sovereign before Queen Victoria ever lived to see a great-grandchild. Indeed, none between Edward III and George I even saw a grandchild, with the exception of James II, who survived the infants of his daughter Anne. Concerning the new prince the Leeds Mercury also notes that he is at the same time third cousin to his father and second cousin, twice removed, to his mother. The duke of Kent and the duke of Cambridge, sons of George III, were brothers. Their respective children, Queen Victoria and the duchess of Teck, are first cousins. In turn the prince of Wales and the duchess of York are second cousins, so that the duke of York and the new prince are, as has been stated, third cousins to each other. On the other hand, the duchess of York is second cousin, once removed, to the duke of York, and therefore second cousin, twice removed, to his son, the new-born prince.

PATIENT WORK SET THEM FREE

Jefferson Jail Breakers Tunnled with a Piece of Hoop Iron.

It required much patience on the part of James Sears, who was serving a sentence for an attempted criminal assault, and Patrick Lynch, who had been committed on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, to tunnel out of the county jail at Jefferson. It is thought that Sears did most of the work, as Lynch was committed to the jail from Watertown only the day before. The prisoners got beneath the floor through an opening two feet long by seven inches wide, which was covered by an iron grating. This they removed. Under the floor a large hole was dug and over a wagon load of dirt was removed in order to get under the wall. The only tools used were a piece of lath and a small piece of hoop iron.

LOOK AT YOUR $2 BILLS.

They May Be Bad, for There's a Dangerous Counterfeit in Circulation.

There is a dangerous imitation of the two dollar silver certificate abroad, which persons should keep their eyes peeled for. The counterfeit is one of a series bearing the likeness of the late Secretary Windom, and is said to be cleverly executed. It first made its appearance in some Ohio cities, from which postal cards giving a full description of it were sent to bankers throughout the country. An experienced eye could detect one of the counterfeits at once, one reason being by the portrait, the eyes having a glare not found in the real.

On the Score of Economy.

BOND IN THE PLACE OF THE RECEIVER

WATER COMPANY GETS BACK ITS PROPERTY.

No Special Meeting to Consider a Suspension of Legal Proceedings—Matter May Come Up at the Regular Session Next Monday Evening—Mayor Thoroughgood's Course.

G. G. Sutherland gives up his post as receiver of the Janesville Water Co. today. The company gives a $10,000 bond and takes possession of its property again under an order from the supreme court staying proceedings until the appeal can be heard. The appeal is from Judge Bennett's order appointing a receiver and probably will be argued in April.

The order granting a stay was made late yesterday afternoon. Justice Pinney wrote the order. The last clause reads as follows:

"Further ordered, that upon the filing of such bonds and upon service of notice thereof and upon the payment of the fees of the clerk of this court on this motion, the said receiver shall and do deliver to the corporation any property or funds of the corporation of which he may have taken possession as such receiver."

Proposition for a Conference.

The proposition that attorneys for the water company meet attorneys for the city and investigate the actual cost of the plant, was amended in some respects this morning, an additional stipulation being added by Attorney Hyzer. The interests of the city and of the company are believed to be amply protected by the agreement as it now stands. The condition to be put upon the city is that legal action be suspended while testimony is being taken. On the part of the water company it is agreed that the works shall be operated in accordance with the franchise and that the income shall not be squandered, but shall be used only for the payment of legal obligations and for the necessary running expenses.

The proposition will be laid before the common council next Monday evening. Mayor Thoroughgood considered the calling of a special meeting but decided that one would be unnecessary.

Sideboard Sale.

We have thirty-one sideboards all different patterns which we will close out before Christmas. We will sell as handsome a sideboard as one would want for $14, will cost you $25 in any other store in Janesville. Come in and see the prices so they are sure to go. As at once. FRANK D. KIMBALL.

A Question of Recognition.

Miss Kitty—Mamma, will we know folks in Heaven, same as we do here?

Mamma—I think there is no doubt of that, my dear.

"Will I know Jane Gopplins?"

"Who is Jane Gopplins?"

"She's the big freckled girl that lives over the grocery store down the street."

"If you are both good enough to go to Heaven, my dear, you will certainly know her."

(After some moments of profound cogitation) "I won't have to speak to her, will I, mamma?"—Chicago Tribune.

Still Keeping It Up.

Meekly the Kansas politicians awaited the word of the female Demos thenes.

"Will you support your husband?" they asked; "can we count upon you?"

"Yes," she snapped, as the color came to her sallow cheeks; "haven't I always done it?"

And then the oldest among them remembered that she had taken in washing before she became political lecturer.—Puck.

She—I don't want you to do anything of the sort.

He—Why not? No guilt would attach to you. You would only be an accessory after the act.

She—Thank you. But if I'd got to be an accessory at all, I'd rather be one during the act.—Brooklyn Life.

that an additional cause of grievance which the emperor has found against Li Hung Chang is the fact that he declared war when the empress dowager was about to celebrate her 61st birthday. The empress has taken great interest in the conflict, and has just contributed another 3,000,000 taels from her birthday fund toward the expenses of the war. She is a woman of great tact and ability. Twice she has occupied the position of regent—the first time after the death of her husband, and again during the minority of the present emperor. She retired from the latter in February, 1886.

A recent dispatch from Tien-Tsin stated that Sheng Swan Hwai, the tao-tai of that city, is in disgrace. Sheng, it is said, had bought from Germany 300,000 discarded rifles, for which he paid two taels each, and charged the government nine taels. He also bought a large quantity of cartridges which were found to be utterly useless. Li Hung Chang discovered the fraud and summoned Sheng to him. In the interview that followed Li Hung Chang is said to have slapped Sheng's face. Sheng later made application for leave of absence on the plea that he was ill and the leave was granted. The Tao-tai Sheng is one of the three chief advisers of Li Hung Chang. He was admitted into Li's confidence on account of his supreme knowledge of foreign affairs. Among many other important offices he holds the position of the marine tao-tai of the province of Chi-Li. Most of China's enterprises of maritime transportation and telegraph were brought to completion through his energetic efforts. He is extraordinarily

Something About a Great French Actress.

Mlle. Gabrielle Rejane, of whom one hears so much nowadays, is one of the few women who has triumphed over public prejudice against an actress with a plain face. Mme. Sarah Bernhardt and the Baroness de Rothschild helped to make Rejane famous. This well born, well brought up Mlle. Rejane did not take her audiences by storm at her debut. In fact, she pegged away at her profession in most commonplace style after overcoming her mother's prejudice against it and after changing her name to Rejane to suit that prejudice. Mme. Bernhardt's violent quarrel with her in Genoa, simply because Damala admired her talent, sprung her into fame and the Baroness Adolphe's kindness fixed her fortunes. From the business of amusing great folk by her clever monologues at the occasional matinee artistique she has risen to almost the level of Bernhardt in Parisian estimation and commands a nice social position as well.

Catarrh starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat, and is in fact, the general enemy of the mucous membrane. Neglected colds in the head almost invariably precede catarrh, causing an excessive flow of mucus, and if the mucous discharge becomes interrupted the disagreeable results of catarrh will follow, such as bad breath, severe pain across forehead and about eyes, a roaring and buzzing sound in the ears and oftentimes a very offensive discharge. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles.

MYSTERIES!

The Nervous System the Seat of Life and Mind. Wonderful Discoveries.

No mystery has ever compared with that of human life. It has been the leading subject of professional research and study in all ages. But notwithstanding this fact it is not generally known that the seat of life is located in the upper part of the spinal cord near the base of the brain and so sensitive is this portion of the nervous system that even the prick of a needle will cause instant death.

Recent discoveries have demonstrated that all the organs of the body are under the control of the nerve centers, located in or near the base of the brain, and that when these are deranged the organs which they supply with nerve fluid are also deranged. When it is remembered that a serious injury to the spinal cord will cause paralysis of the body below the injured point, because the nerve force is prevented by the injury from reaching the paralyzed portion, it will be understood how the derangement of the nerve centers will cause the derangement of the various organs which they supply with nerve force.

Two-thirds of chronic diseases are due to the imperfect action of the nerve centers at the base of the brain, not from a derangement primarily originating in the organ itself. The great mistake of physicians in treating these diseases is that they treat the organ rather than the nerve centers which are the cause of the trouble. Dr. FRANKLIN MILES, the celebrated specialist, has profoundly studied this subject for over 20 years, and has made many important discoveries in connection with it, chief among them being the facts contained in the above statement, and that the ordinary methods of treatment are wrong. All headache, dizziness, dullness, confusion, pressure, blues, mania, melancholy, insanity, epilepsy, St. Vitus dance, etc., are nervous diseases no matter how caused. The wonderful success of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve is due to the fact that it is based on the foregoing principle. Dr. Miles' RESTORATIVE NERVE is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It contains neither opium nor dangerous drugs. Sold by all druggists.

Killed by an Advertisement.

Vostria, the great dancing-master, died at eighty-three, and it was said he would have lived till a hundred but for a sudden and mortal blow in the shape of an advertisement. One day he asked for a newspaper—probably for the first time in his life. Scarcely had he opened the sheet, when his eyes lighted upon the following: "Wanted, a professor of dancing at Calcutta. Must be a skillful chiropodist at the same time." He took to his bed and never left it again alive.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN.

Many times women call on their family physician, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another with pain here or there, and in this way they all present to their easy-going doctor, separate diseases, for which he prescribes, assuming them to be such, when, in reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some womb disorder. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine, like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have promptly cured the disease.

Mrs. HARRY TAPPAN, of Reynolds, Jefferson Co., Neb., writes: "For two years I was a sufferer. A part of this time had to be carried from my bed. Was racked with pain, had hysteria, was very nervous, no appetite and completely discouraged. A few bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' effected a perfect cure." Sold by all dealers in medicines.

DOE AND SWAIN.

It is deplorable, the lack of harmony shown by Wisconsin democrats as to the recognition of their leaders. Now there is the Madison Democrat, a bourbon organ tried and true, and yet listen to what it says:

"As humiliating to the people of Wisconsin as would be the appointment of Gen. Joseph B. Doe to the position of judge advocate general of the United States army there might nevertheless be some appropriateness in that gentleman of roster notoriety stepping into the official shoes worn by Gen. Swain. The latter like Gen. Doe, has a record—not a roster record, to be sure, but one quite a bad. Both men were tried, but Swain, unlike Doe, was not able on technical or confessional grounds to have his case taken away from an eager jury and thrown out of court. This is the material point of difference in the records of the two men a defe-dants.

"General Swain was tried by court martial in 1884 on charges of having defrauded a banker on a certificate of deposit and of conniving at the duplication of another officer's pay roll. He was convicted, but the sentence was light, and was set aside for that reason by President Arthur. A second trial had the same result. On a third trial, early in 1885, the sentence of the court was that he should be suspended from duty twelve years on half pay, and it was approved as one of President Arthur's last official acts. This sentence has been running until General Swain has nearly reached the age at which he may be retired. The president, however, a few days ago, remitted the remainder of the sentence and restored Swain to duty—an action which will enable him to retire on December 22 on full pay!

"Another striking co-incidence in the case of Swain and Doe is that the same functionary who remitted the sentence of the one, honored the other by appointing him assistant secretary of war at a time when the roster rascality with which Doe was so conspicuously connected was a matter of public scandal and notoriety throughout Wisconsin and the whole northwest."

When the saints of democracy and reform fall to pounding one another what may we expect of those less favored?

The man who supposes that this country will ever adopt the single gold standard is quite as badly mistaken as he who thinks we shall adopt the single silver standard. I am the conservatives, not the extremists, who usually control legislation in this country, and the conservative will not agree to a single standard.

Lots of trouble would be avoided if some people would remember that the editor who retracts from fear of personal chastisement is a very rare animal. So rare that many who have spent a life-time hunting for them have never seen one.

Can it have been remorse that made Mr. Cleveland commend a "foreign policy, free from envious or ambitious national schemes and characterized by entire honesty and sincerity?" That certainly does not describe his policy.

If this congress fails to take some definite action on the matter it will be safe to predict another bou issue before the next congress meets.

A monetary commission properly selected might be useful, but would its members be properly selected? Mr. Cleveland is authorized to do it.

"Pension frauds" do not occupy a conspicuous place in Mr. Cleveland's declarations this year as they did last. It is easy to guess why.

Mr. Cleveland says questions relating to our banks and currency have some unsatisfactory features. Have they any other kind?

Silver has been more injured by the friendship of the populists than by the "gold bugs."

Secretary Morton is the last man to undertake the impossible contract of proving to the American farmer that his best market is in Europe.

Mr. Cleveland no longer poses as a tamer of wild horses. He has concluded that less harm will result from giving them a loose rein.

A fashionably-dressed lady appeared at the box office of the Star theater, and said to the man at the window: "I want the best seat in the house." "That depends on what you call the best seat in the house. Do you want a seat where you have a good view of the stage?" "Not so much that as a seat where a person can be seen by everybody in the house. What do you suppose I wear this seventy-five dollar dress for?"—Tammany Times.

MISCELLANEOUS

Buy your wife a parrot for Christmas and have some talking in the home. Splendid ones at Helmstre's drugstore.

WHAT shall the Christmas gift be? If we had a son, which we haven't, we would say to him "stop smoking," (which he probably wouldn't) and buy with the money we would save, a home site on which to build a home or as speculation.

In case he would not listen to the advice we should buy one for him, making a present of the first payment and the contract and no doubt he would save some way keep up the future easy monthly payments (even if the smoking habit had to go) and thus secure the property.

Quite an undertaking and investment to start this, say you? Not so much of one as it might at first blush seem, say we. Just as an encouragement for this plan of making Christmas presents, we will sell twenty full sized lots as good as there are in the city at ONE HUNDRED AND FIVE DOLLARS each, $5 cash down and one dollar per week for one hundred weeks and then the lot will be paid for in full. No interest, no any thing, but exactly $105 for a full size 66 by 132 foot lot and remember there cannot be bought a better lot at any price.

If the old folks don't avail themselves of this offer, you come in boys and girls and let us show you the lots, and we are very sure you will buy a lot and make yourself a Christmas present. We never, you never, no one else ever saw such a chance for either old or young people to get a home site. We assure you who may get at least twenty lots that the lots adjoining yours shall never be sold at less than $150 to $200 each; and we feel confident we shall get $250 each for every lot adjoining the twenty lots that we now offer you at $105 each on easy (one dollar) weekly payments. It may seem strange to you that such a bargain is offered, and it is strange, an never again will such a chance to become a land owner occur. These twenty lots are for sale but one to a person, no man, woman, boy or girl can get but one of these twenty lots, and no lot adjoining either one of these can be bought to-day for cash at less than $150 up. The deal is simply one of our "cutting" deals, and we shall now repeat the offer after these twenty lots are sold. Hadn't you better come in a once? Yours very truly, just the same as here before. ELLEN'S BLIND BIG BROUGHT TO LIGHT

ORFORDVILLE WOMAN CONVICTED OF SELLING LIQUOR.

First Time in the History of the Circuit Court, they say, that a Person Was Convicted by a Jury on that Charge—Damage Suit by Fred Meissner Against James Shearer.

For the first time in the history of the tribunal, it is claimed, a Rock county circuit court jury brought in a verdict of guilty in the case of a person charged with illegal liquor selling today. Ellen Shaffer of Orfordville, was this morning found guilty of that charge and three other cases of similar nature against her are pending. Sentence was deferred. The question whether Fred Meissner was injured to the extent of $10,000 by his fall in the Y. M. C. A. building last May, was then taken up. James Shearer, the contractor, is the defendant. Meissner was in the employ of Shearer when he fell from the second floor and claims to have sustained permanent injuries. The judge, jury and attorneys were taken to the building this afternoon to inspect the scene. Winans, Hyzer, & Russell appear for the plaintiff and Sutherland & Nolan for the defendant.

The usual adjectives are so much used that we weary of them, and in describing the beauty of a fine diamond they all seem inadequate. A. F. Hall & Co., "the reliable jewelers," believe that more pleasure results from the giving and the getting of a diamond than from any other thing they sell, and are well prepared with a large stock to make many people happy.

One of the best pieces of flower painting that ever came from the brush of Mrs. S. S. Judd is now shown in C. D. Stevens' east window. It shows a pot of nasturtiums in bloom, the yellow and orange red of the blossoms being made the richer by the background of deep green. The flowers are in an open window and the background shows a summer landscape full of charm.

Three numbers of the Milton Telephone have been issued under the editorship of its new owner, Mrs. Alice S. Blount. BAD BOYS STONED AN OLD MAN'S HOME

COVEY WILL HAVE TO FACE JUDGE PHELPS.

Robert L. Gower, the Youthful Grandson of Daniel Gower, the Complaining Witness Put Under Bonds to Appear—The Sullivan Thanksgiving Shooting Escapade Adjourned

It was under the charge he had stoned his grandfathers house that Robert L. Gower was marched into the presence of Judge Phelps today, and half a bushel of various sized rocks are in the court as evidence. Young Gower is not the only defendant, although he is the only one who has been apprehended yet. The others are Ed. Dunham, George Gibbons, William Gibbons, Fred Yuenst and Louis Church, who are charged with bombarding the home of Daniel Gower at 215 North River street. Young Gower, a grandson of the complaining witness, was arrested and brought into court, when he was placed under fifty dollar bonds to appear on December 22. The story of the complaining witness is to the effect that this covey of boys pitched stones at his domicile until their arms were tired out. He gathered up the missiles which entered the house and presented the same to the court. Several panes of glass in the windows and doors were demolished. Fred C. Burpee appeared for young Gower and W. A. Jackson for the state.

The Thanksgiving night shooting by which Jerry Sullivan got a twenty-two caliber bullet in his nose from the revolver of Englebert Schaumbargar also came before Judge Phelps this morning but was adjourned until December 17. The charge against Schaumbargar is assault with intent to kill. Schaumbargar was in court with the bandages still on his head and face, covering the wounds that were inflicted by Sullivan before he shot him. Sullivan was not in court but he is now so far recovered that he does not require the attendance of the doctor.

It Pays to Tell the Truth.

While others are complaining about the weather being unseasonable and business dull on account of it, we are crowded with customers every day. Abe Lincoln, perhaps you've heard about him, once said something about "fooling all the people all the time." We learned that when we were boys and have kept it in mind by doing as we agree we have obtained the confidence of the people, and we are enjoying the biggest trade of our lifetime as a result. Everything at cost until January 1.

RARE ART GALLERY TO BE OPENED HERE

COLLECTION OF MASTERPIECES PUT ON EXHIBITION.

Janesville League Works Through a Chicago Association to Make the Display Possible—Local Collections Likely to Be Enriched With Examples of Dutch Painting.

A collection of paintings such as Janesville has never seen will be put on exhibition here soon after the holidays. The display will be made under the auspices of the Janesville Art League, which is a branch of the Central Art Association.

The paintings to be shown here will be selected from the big collection under the control of the Central Art Association, illustrating the schools of painting of the world. The exhibition will be valuable from an artistic point of view and doubly valuable from an educational. The only cost to the Janesville association will be the transportation expenses and insurance charges.

Janesville art collections are likely to be enriched within the next week or two by additions representing the work of the modern Dutch school. Several picture-lovers from this city have visited the exhibition of Dutch paintings opened at Thurber's gallery in Chicago two weeks ago, and have been deeply impressed. Several purchases are understood to be probable.

This collection is a new one, and several new pictures have been added lately. One is a landscape by Willem Maris and two landscapes are from Jan Van Eesen's brush. The larger Van Eesen shows three young lions, and is considered the most important water color that the talented young animal painter has ever done. A new Kever is entitled "The Knitter." Kever has been pronounced the coming Israel, and many will be glad to know that there is a probability of one of his soft-toned interiors coming here.

HE WAS THE KING OF EXPLORERS

LAYARD'S CONTRIBUTIONS TO ARCHAEOLOGY.

His Most Notable Discoveries Made in the Ruins of Ancient Nineveh—The Winged Bulls and Cuneiform Account of the Deluge.

BY THE RECENT death of Sir Henry Layard archaeological science has lost a man to whom it owes some of the most interesting and valuable contributions of modern times. His researches in the east, carried on frequently under the most discouraging circumstances, and particularly his explorations of the ruins of Nineveh which resulted in the discovery of the winged bulls, which now has a conspicuous place in the British museum, and of his finding of the royal library containing an account of the SIR HENRY AUSTEN LAYARD, deluge in the cuneiform character, entitle him to the very highest rank among modern scientific explorers.

Whether the fact can be said to have had anything to do with his subsequent tastes and character or not, Henry Austen Layard had what may be termed a cosmopolitan origin. He was the son of Henry P. J. Layard, of the Ceylon civil service, an Englishman, his mother was a Spaniard, he was born in Paris and was educated in Italy. These facts were made a matter of complaint against him when he first went before a British constituency, but he turned the electors in his favor by wittily asking them whether, if a man were born in a stable, they would call him a horse. The date of his birth was March 5, 1817. After a youth spent mainly in Italy he went to London in 1833 to study for the bar. But the law had no attractions for him, and a few years afterward he started an expedition which laid the foundations of the special knowledge of which he was afterward to make such important use.

Edward Mitford, a friend of Layard's, was starting for Ceylon, and both young men decided to travel together, and as far as possible by land. Layard was fired by the prospect of adventure, and armed with introduction from Sir John MacNeill (then just retired from the Persian court), and from Sir Charles Fellows, who had traveled extensively in Asia Minor, and with the necessary instructions from the geographical society, with a few instruments for taking observations, and with the requisite letters of credit, the two young men set out across Albania, Roumania, and Turkey on their journey. They were without attendants and almost without baggage, they knew little Arabic and less Persian, and their saddlebags contained little more than a change of clothes, a few note books and a medicine chest.

After a short time Layard found himself at the ruins of Nimroud, believed to be the site of ancient Nineveh, "the birthplace of wisdom." M. Botta, then French Consul at Mosul, had been making excavations and Layard was anxious to examine the ruins more closely than had yet been done. He returned to Constantinople to obtain the necessary permission. After much delay he succeeded, and he and his party soon came upon a variety of sculptured treasures, and they became convinced that they had lighted upon a rich vein of archaeological discovery. They again resumed their researches in the years 1846-47, and Layard's energy and perseverance were rewarded by the discovery of the ground plan and a few scanty remains of no less than four distinct structures of a more or less palatial design. The walls of most of these had been clearly lined with large slabs of gypsum, or alabaster, covered with artistic base reliefs, and adorned with cuneiform inscriptions.

Very many of these were sent to England by Mr. Layard, and to be placed in the British Museum, and to be carefully examined by oriental scholars. The arrival of these treasures in London from the distant and mysterious east produced an effect in scientific circles and among the large body of cultivated Europeans who are interested in scientific research which can hardly be described as less than sensational.

While interested in his researches and his remarkable achievements was at its height Sir Henry's book, "Nineveh and Its Remains," was published. It attained an extraordinary sale for a book of its character and served still further to stimulate national pride in the work of a distinguished son. The house passed a vote of $3,000 to be expended and applied by the museum trustees in continuing the excavations under Layard's personal superintendence. Layard's second book, "Nineveh and Babylon," was issued in 1851, and a further important work, "Discoveries in the Ruins of Nineveh and Babylon, with travels in Armenia, Kurdistan and the Desert," in 1853. The account of the work he had undertaken for the trustees of the British museum.

Among other things Sir Henry became the lion of London society. He had been appointed attaché to the embassy at Constantinople, but remained there only a short time. Meanwhile honors fell thick upon him. Later on he devoted himself to politics. His last ministerial appointment was that of chief commissioner of works in Mr. Gladstone's government formed in December, 1868, his conduct in which called forth considerable opposition. He retired from parliament and official life in 1869, when he was appointed minister to Madrid. His views on the eastern question having commended him to Lord Beaconsfield, in April, 1877, he was sent as ambassador to Constantinople, in succession to Sir Henry Elliot. In this capacity he negotiated the treaty for the British occupation of Cyprus; and his active assertion of the premier's imperial policy procured him the Grand Cross of the Bath.

Breakers Ahead! Prudence, foresight, that might have saved many a good ship that has gone to pieces among the breakers, is a quality "conspicuous by its absence" among many classes of invalids, and among none more notably than persons troubled with inactivity of the kidneys and bladder. When these organs fall off in duty, grievous trouble is to be apprehended. Bright disease, diabetes, catarrh and stone in the bladder, are among the diseases which a disregard of early symptoms confirm and render fatal. That signally effective diuretic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will let no one so troubled forget this remedy, the symptoms of approaching renal disease and check its further progress. Equally efficacious in the Bitters for constipation, liver complaint, malarial and rheumatic trouble and debility.

Goethe's Visit to Carlsbad.

There is no doubt that the life of the great poet was greatly prolonged by drinking the waters of the Sprudel Spring. In our day we have the Sprudel Spring brought to us in the form of Salt, which is obtained by evaporation from the waters of Carlsbad.

The Carlsbad Sprudel Salt (powder form) is in no sense a mere purgative, but is an alterative and eliminative remedy which dissolves tenacious bile, allays irritation and removes obstruction by aiding nature. It acts soothingly and without pain. Beware of imitations. The genuine article has the signature of "EISNER & MENDELSON CO., Sole Agents, New York," on every bottle.

VESTS AND WAISTCOATS.

Fluffy Affairs of Silk and Lace Rival Manish Models.

The vest is one of the features of the season and will be more extensively worn than heretofore, if that were possible. Vests with a half low collar and lapels slightly rounded out, with double points and pockets, which are, however, of no use, are the approved models. Many ladies find vests and waistcoats inconvenient in one respect. Worn under a blazer or jacket without shirt waist or blouse, the contact of the sleeve of the outside garment is decidedly unpleasant. To remedy this sleeves of soft silk are sewed in the armholes of the jacket. They have simple bands at the wrists, closed with a button, or the hand may slip through. The former is, however, more comfortable, as the sleeve stays in place and does not draw up when the coat or jacket is put on. Waistcoats that button up to the throat are extremely stylish and are much better liked by some ladies than those with rolling collar. They certainly save a great deal of bother, for the tie and front must at all times be immaculate, and besides they involve no small amount of time and labor to keep them in perfect order. In addition to this, the open front is much less becoming to many persons than the closed one. However, as they are equally approved, the question of more or less trouble rarely enters into the consideration of the wearer.

While the plain cloth vests of masculine cut are a complete bodice, the more fanciful frilled articles often consist merely of a wide plastron held in place by a belt and a standing collar. With a well fitting coat the fact that they have no back is a secret known only to the wearer. These ornamental vests are easily made at home, and used interchangeably give variety to the same gown.

The vest illustrated is of foulard and lace. A full front of the silk is shirred at the neck and waist and trimmed across the bust by three horizontal silk ruffles edged with lace. The top of the vest is gathered into a draped standing collar, also trimmed with lace, which fastens on the left side under a loose soft knot.

PARISIAN FANCIES.

Exquisite Evening Wraps Are Shown in Flowered Moire—Fancy Muffs.

Certain Parisian fashion papers, not content with instructing their patrons in the matters of dress, etiquette, fancy work, rejuvenation and hygiene, also publish little bouquets of moral precepts of a most virtuous aroma. Whether these advice are as religiously followed as those pertaining to their hair dyes, complexion washes and the remaking of gowns it is fortunately not necessary to ascertain, but as Parisian models are considered good ones it might not be amiss to provide American women with boiled down tracts in the fashion column. Here is one as an experiment:

Sow an act, and you reap a habit.

Sow a habit, you reap a character.

Sow a character, you reap a destiny.

Decorative muffs composed of velvet, lace, ribbons, flowers and passementerie seem to be preferred by the Parisienne to the more substantial fur ones favored in America. A fancy collar, with muffs to match, is now the popular fancy.

Large old fashioned poke and Quaker bonnets are worn by little French girls. These bonnets are trimmed with feathers and ribbons, and rosettes are placed within the brim.

The evening cloak is an important article in the French wardrobe. It must be very warm, to protect the bare arms and shoulders; very light, in order not to crush by its weight the delicate costumes over which it is worn, and very becoming, for general reasons. Flowered moire is the newest material for these mantles, which are beautiful enough to make one wish to wear them in the house.

A picture is given of a gown of pancy faille and velvet. It has a plain bell skirt trimmed on the left side with a panel of velvet adjoining one of silk embroidery. The back of the skirt forms godets. The round bodice is confined at the waist by a velvet belt. It has a box plait down the middle of the front covered with embroidery. A ruffle of velvet is placed on either side of the plait and under the ruffle another band of embroidery. The collar is of velvet, the gigot sleeves of faille. The velvet matches the silk in color.

The building will be of a classic style of architecture, suggesting the Pantheon, and the grand entrance, 325 feet wide, will somewhat resemble the entrance to the capitol at Washington. The building will be capped by a dome rising 300 feet above the Hudson river. Near the proposed library's site are the Grant monument and the new Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

present a resident of Cleveland. He has been 40 years a railroad man and began his career as a clerk in the employ of the Pennsylvania system. He has been president of the Nickel Plate for the past seven years.

Sweden's Hero King.

Dec. 9, 1894, was the three hundredth anniversary of the birth of Gustavus Adolphus, hero king of Sweden, and was therefore celebrated as a festival day in all northern Europe. He was the great champion of Protestantism in the horrible

GUSTAVUS ADOLPHUS.

Thirty Years' war, and was killed at the battle of Lutzen, Nov. 6, 1632, but not till he had raised Sweden to a very high position in Europe. He became king at 17, finding his country involved in war, yet brought her triumphantly through all her troubles. Napoleon compared him to Hannibal, these two being the warriors who achieved the greatest results with small means.

Commander Lawler's Adjutant.

Cassius Clay Jones of Rockford, Ill., adjutant general of the G. A. R., was born May 3, 1845, in Seneca Falls, N. Y., and volunteered in the naval service as soon as he was old enough. After the war he entered the employ of the Boston and Albany railroad, but in 1867 went to Rockford and became book-keeper and cashier in a large general store. Later he became a banker and has long been known as one of the most expert accountants in the west.

Every article named is this season's production---all 1894 goods. Our Friend Again Fooled. We understand mixing nuts, the same as we understand tea. We buy all our own nuts in bulk and do our own mixing. You will find an equal percentage of Almonds and English Walnuts there. These are the most expensive nuts.
